EDUCATION

- Doctor of Science in Engineering and Policy, Washington University, 1996
- Master of Science in Computer Science, Washington University, 1996
- Master of Science in Technology and Human Affairs, Washington University, 1993
- Bachelor of Science in Engineering and Public Policy, Washington University, 1992

EMPLOYMENT

Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, PA

Institute for Software Research, School of Computer Science

Engineering & Public Policy Department, College of Engineering

FORE Systems Professor, September 2017-

- Associate Department Head, Engineering & Public Policy, 2017-
- Co-Director, MSIT-Privacy Engineering masters program, 2013-
- Director, CyLab Usable Privacy and Security Laboratory
- Consulting faculty, MSIT in eBusiness Technology masters program
- Affiliate faculty member in Heinz College, Human-Computer Interaction Institute, and Electrical and Computer Engineering Department

Professor, July 2014 - August 2017

Fellow, Frank-Ratchye STUDIO for Creative Inquiry, June 2012 - August 2013

Associate Professor, July 2008 - July 2014 (tenured July 2011)

Associate Research Professor, December 2003 - June 2008

US Federal Trade Commission, Washington, DC

Chief Technologist, January 2016 - January 2017

Wombat Security Technologies, Pittsburgh, PA

Co-founder and Chief Scientist, 2008-2011

Wombat is a security awareness training company that was acquired by Proofpoint in 2018

New York University Stern School of Business, New York, NY

Adjunct Assistant Professor of Information Systems, 2003

AT&T Labs-Research, Florham Park, NJ

Principal Technical Staff Member, 2001-2003

Senior Technical Staff Member, 1996-2001

Washington University in St. Louis, St. Louis, MO

Lecturer and Manager of the Student Staff, Computer Science Department, 1993-1996

Research Assistant, Medical Library, Advanced Technology Group, 1992-1993

PERSONAL

- Allegheny County, PA – election worker, 2004-2015, 2017-2018
- Dynamoms Women's Soccer – founding commissioner, 2013 -
- Dynamo Youth Soccer – age-level commissioner, 2009-2014
- Pittsburgh Science and Technology Academy Parent Teacher Organization – president, 2013-2016
- Pittsburgh Colfax K-8 Parent Teacher Organization – webmaster, 2008-2017
- Hobbies: quilting, photography, yoga, soccer, flute

CITATIONS AND AWARDS

- ACM CHI Social Impact Award, 2018
- International Association of Privacy Professionals Leadership Award, 2018
- ACM CHI Academy, 2017
- IEEE Fellow, 2016
- ACM Fellow, 2014
- ELATE Fellow, Executive Leadership in Academic Technology and Engineering, 2014-2015
- Montgomery Blair High School Magnet Foundation Distinguished Alumni Award, 2014
- NSF Science and Engineering Visualization Challenge Honorable Mention, 2014
- Recognized as a Privacy by Design Ambassador by the Information and Privacy Commissioner, Ontario, Canada, 2012
- Finalist, Executive Women's Forum (information security, risk management, and privacy) Women of Influence Awards, 2010
- Annual Computer Security Applications Conference 2009 Distinguished Practitioner Award
- Tor Graphical User Interface Design Competition, Phase 1 Overall Winner (2006)
- 2004 IBM Best Academic Privacy Faculty Award
- Technology Review Top 100 Innovator 35 or Younger (2003)
- 2002 AT&T Standards Recognition Award
- Index on Censorship Freedom of Expression Award for Best Circumvention of Censorship (for Publius project), 2001
- Washington University Omicron Delta Kappa Campus Government Honors Medal, 1995
- Washington University Engineering & Policy Departmental Fellowship, 1992-96
- Senior Award for Service to the Engineering & Policy Department and Professional Excellence, 1992
- Washington University Woodward Engineering Fellowship, 1989-92
- National Merit Scholarship Finalist, 1989

PAPER AND POSTER AWARDS

- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security Impact Award Finalist, 2017 (SOUPS paper published in 2007-2012 recognized as having a significant impact on usable security and privacy research and practice) [156] – four other papers I co-authored were also nominated [140, 129, 116, 104]
- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security 2017 Distinguished Poster Award
- CHI 2017 Best Paper Award [59]
- USENIX Security 2016 Best Paper Award [62]
- CHI 2016 Best Paper Award Honorable Mention [67]
- Paper selected for Privacy Papers for Policy Makers, 2015 [71]
- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security 2015 Distinguished Poster Award
- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security Impact Award Nominee, 2014 (one of 10 SOUPS papers published in 2005-2009 recognized as having a significant impact on usable security and privacy research and practice) [165]
- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security 2014 Distinguished Poster Award
- Symposium On Usable Privacy and Security 2013 Distinguished Paper Award [90]
- Information Systems Society and Information Systems Research 2012 Best Published Paper Award [33]
- Paper selected for Privacy Papers for Policy Makers, 2012 [104]
- CHI 2012 Best Paper Award Honorable Mention [109]
- CHI 2011 Best Paper Award Honorable Mention [123]
- Paper selected for Privacy Papers for Policy Makers, 2010 [104]
- Award for Outstanding Research in Privacy Enhancing Technologies, Runner up, 2010 [109]
- CHI 2008 Best Paper Award Honorable Mention [152]

- Best Paper Award, The Fifth International Conference on Electronic Commerce (ICEC 2003) [171]
- Best Paper Award, 9th USENIX Security Symposium, 2000 [173]
- ACM Computer Science Conference Student Poster Forum Award, 1996
- Washington University Association of Graduate Engineering Students Research Fair First Place Award, 1996
- Missouri College Newspaper Association Award for Second Place in Features Writing, 1992
- Columbia University's national Gold Circle Award for Features Profiles Writing, second place, 1988

CONTRIBUTIONS TO EDUCATION

ENGINEERING & PUBLIC POLICY PHD PROGRAM

I have served as director of the PhD program in Engineering & Public Policy since June 2017. This is a well established program, which currently has about 80-90 students enrolled. In my first year as director I worked with the faculty to propose and implement changes in a number of areas, updating policies and streamlining processes. I worked with the department's qualifying exam and curriculum committees to review their respective policies, obtained input from other faculty and students, helped build consensus within the committees, and proposed changes to the full faculty. I then worked with the committees to revise proposals based on concerns raised at faculty meetings, leading to adoption of our revised proposals. As a result, we have made changes to the qualifier exam process that should reduce faculty workload and student stress, and increase the consistency of grading. We have made changes to the PhD curriculum that increase flexibility in ways students can meet course requirements so as to better match the curriculum to the needs of each student, reduce administrative load of granting exceptions to curriculum requirements, and increase our ability to apply the policy consistently. I also worked with department staff to revise and streamline our PhD admissions processes, while emphasizing student diversity and making sure admitted students will have suitable advising and funding.

MSIT-PRIVACY ENGINEERING MASTERS PROGRAM

The Master of Science in Information Technology—Privacy Engineering (MSIT-PE) degree is a 12-month or 16-month program designed for computer scientists and engineers who wish to pursue careers as privacy engineers or technical privacy managers, playing a critical role in building privacy into future products, services, and processes. This first-of-its kind program admitted its first class in Fall 2013. The 12-month program includes two semesters of courses and concludes with a summer-long learning-by-doing, capstone project, where students are brought in as privacy consultants to work on client projects. In the 16-month program students complete summer internships before returning to CMU for their capstone projects.

I worked with a colleague, Norman Sadeh, to develop the curriculum for this program and propose the program for college and university approval in 2012. Since the launch of the program in Fall 2013, I have served as co-director of the program with Norman Sadeh. I have been involved in curriculum design, student recruiting, admissions, fundraising, budgeting, faculty recruiting, course scheduling, teaching assignments, student advising, industry outreach, and program operations. The program has enrolled between 5 and 12 students each year.

CARNEGIE MELLON USABLE PRIVACY & SECURITY DOCTORAL TRAINING PROGRAM

The Carnegie Mellon Usable Privacy and Security (CUPS) Doctoral Training program offers PhD students at CMU a fundamentally new, cross-disciplinary training experience that prepares them to produce the key research advances necessary to reconcile ostensible tensions between security, privacy and usability, moving away from an “either-or” view of these goals to a deeper understanding of underlying tradeoffs and eventually towards solutions where security, privacy and usability are configured to reinforce each other. The goal of this program is to serve as a catalyst to shape the field of usable privacy and security by developing and training a new generation of researchers in methodologies, principles, and approaches that can be applied across systems and applications, in contrast to one-off solutions. This program was supported by an NSF IGERT grant from 2009 to 2014.

I was PI on the NSF IGERT grant that funded this program and served as director of this program. I proposed the curriculum for the program and was responsible for admissions, outreach, and program operations. I started a weekly CUPS seminar series that continues to be attended by a large number of faculty and students from throughout the university and nearby institutions.

PRIVACY MODULE FOR MSIT-EBUSINESS TECHNOLOGY MASTERS PROGRAM

I developed a two-week privacy course module for CMU's MSIT-eBusiness Technology masters program. The module features a team project that simulates the experience of privacy consultants brought in to work with a large company. I developed the privacy module in 2006 and have updated it and taught it every year from 2006 to 2015.

USABLE PRIVACY AND SECURITY COURSE

This course is designed to introduce students to a variety of usability and user interface problems related to privacy and security and to give them experience in designing studies aimed at helping to evaluate usability issues in security and privacy systems. The course is suitable both for students interested in privacy and security who would like to learn more about usability, as well as for students interested in usability who would like to learn more about security and privacy. Initially, much of the course was taught in a graduate seminar style in which all students were expected to do a weekly reading assignment and each week different students prepared a presentation for the class. Students also worked on a group project throughout the semester. Over the years I have revised the curriculum. In the Spring 2018 offering of this course, I used most of the first half of the semester to teach HCI research methods through class lectures and hands on exercises, framed in the context of privacy and security. In the second half of the semester I focused each lecture on a different security or privacy topic. Group projects involving IRB-approved usable privacy and security studies continue to provide students with experience applying what they have learned. Some students continue working on their group projects after the semester is over and have successfully submitted them for conference publication.

I developed this course with two colleagues, Michael Reiter and Jason Hong, in 2006 and have taught it nine times between 2006 and 2018. This is one of the first usable privacy and security courses to be offered anywhere. The syllabus and curriculum materials are available online to be used as a model for other courses.

PRIVACY POLICY, LAW, AND TECHNOLOGY COURSE

This course focuses on policy issues related to privacy from the perspectives of governments, organizations, and individuals. We begin with a historical and philosophical study of privacy and then explore recent public policy issues. We examine the privacy protections provided by laws and regulations, as well as the way technology can be used to protect privacy. We emphasize technology-related privacy concerns and mitigation, for example: social networks, smartphones, behavioral advertising (and tools to prevent targeted advertising and tracking), anonymous communication systems, big data, and drones. The course is open to all graduate students and advanced undergraduate students who have technical backgrounds.

I developed this course in 2004 and have taught it nine times between 2004 and 2015. This was one of the first privacy courses to be offered to computer science or engineering students at any university.

COMPUTERS AND SOCIETY COURSE

In this course students discuss the social impacts of computing technology. The course provides a brief introduction to ethics and to the history of computing and the Internet. It focuses on a number of areas in which computers and information technology are having an impact on society including privacy, freedom of speech, intellectual property, work, distribution of wealth, and the environment. Issues that are discussed include electronic voting, spyware, spam, and intellectual property issues associated with digital content distribution. This course is intended for freshmen and sophomore students from across the university. The course has been renamed Ethics and Policy Issues in Computing.

I developed this course in 2005 and taught in three times between 2005 and 2007.
